

Millie has a MRI scan

For children aged 6 or over

- Millie has come for a MRI scan with her mummy.
- Mummy is asked to fill in lots of forms.

- A grown-up called a 'radiographer' takes mummy and Millie into the scan room together.

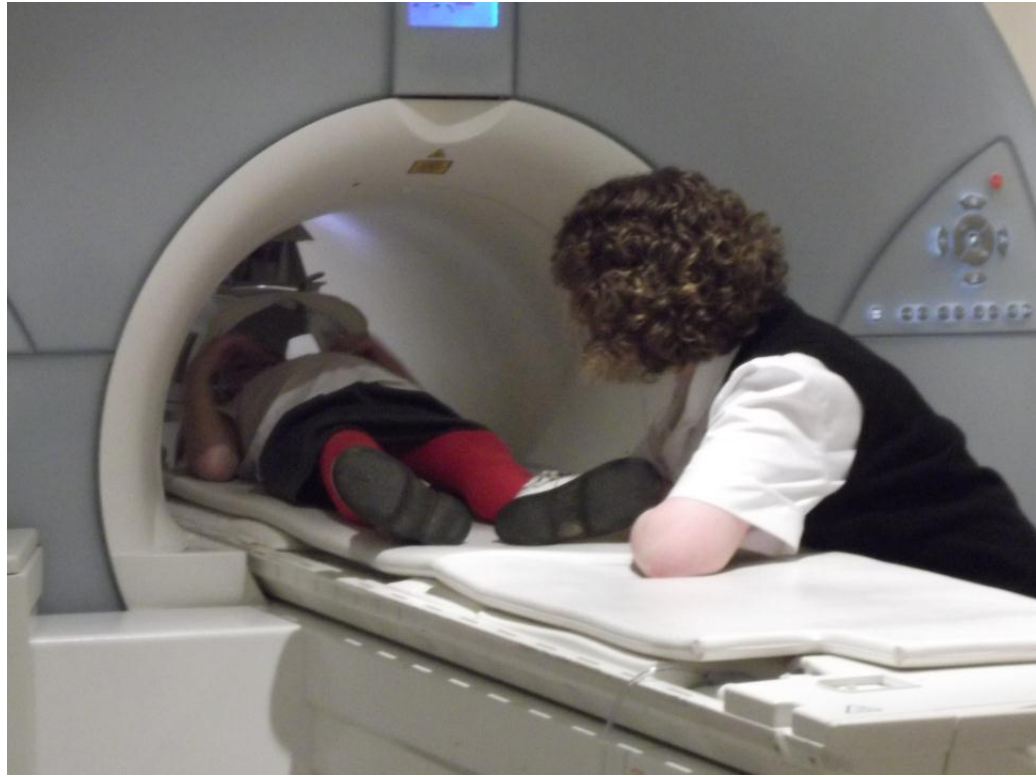

- The radiographer explains what is happening.
- Millie and mummy ask questions and the radiographer answers them all.

- The radiographer asks Millie to lay on the couch.
- Millie wears some headphones.
- When the scan starts Millie can listen to music.

- Millie is having pictures taken of her head.
- She wears a funny helmet called a coil.
- The coil is actually the camera!

- Millie knows that the scan doesn't hurt.
- Mummy will come and stand very close when the pictures are taken.
- Millie has to keep very still. Wow, it's noisy!

- The scan is finished - no more noises.
- The radiographer brings Millie out of the scanner - all done!
